In the Senate, various petitions were presented, mostly on the subject of the Bankrupt Law, and by eleven Senators against its repeal. Mr. Morenead, in presenting a petition against the repeal of this law, expressed his desire to support any measure which should set the captive free, and tend to ameliorate the condition of the unfortunate throughout the land; but he was convinced, from letters and other communications with the people of Kentucky, as well as from the resolations which had passed the popular branch of the Legislature, that the people of that State were adverse to the law; and considering it his duty, he should conform to their sentiments, and vote for the repeal of the law.

Mr. WALKER declared his opposition to the repeal, and called up the resolution yesterday submitted by him instructing the Committee on the Judiciary to report an amendment to the act to include corporations, which having by him been modified, at the suggestion of Mr. King, so as to was adopted.

A resolution, submitted by Mr. WILLIAMS, Was adopted, directing the Secretary of the Navy to communicate the number of vessels of war in the Navy in the years 1822, '24, '39, '40 and '41, according to their respective classes.

Aresolution submitted by Mr. MERRICK of inquiry into the manner of execution of the law esrevenue, was adopted.

Mr. Evans from the Committee on Finance, rewith amendments.

Mr. Rives introduced a bill to revive the Neutrality Law of 1833; which was twice read and being the special order, was laid over.

Bills for the relief of Jacob Fennell and others. l'illing, of George D. Passeau, of Huldal: Tucker. and of George W. Pascal; and regulating commercial intercouse with the port of Cavenne, colony of French Guiana were passed. In the House, Mr. Stanly renewed his attempt authorising the Committee on Public Expenditures ing a passage through the rear balement, and was desaid he would show, before the close of the Session, Police Office, where he was committed to prison to anthe reasons for these repeated objections.

desks of Members for their consideration; to which Fulton-street. objection was made. The bill was supposed to relate to the subject of Bankruptcy. ]

Petitions were then received under the suspension of the rules for this purpose, numbers of which were on the subject of the Bankrupt Act, principally opposing its repeal. Several on the subject of Slavery were laid on the table.

Mr. J. R. INGERSOLL having presented a petition against the repeal of the Bankrupt Law, moved its reference to the Committee on the Judicia-1v, with instructions to inquire into the expedienev of reporting a bill to establish a uniform system of Bankruptcy, in which the imperfections of the Act vesterday repealed by the House may be corrected and its deficiencies supplied. This resolution, under the operation of the previous question, was adopted-ayes $3, noes 50. Unsuccessful attempts were made to offer several other resolutions.

Without completing the call of the States for petitions, the House adjourned.

CLEREBUGIES VENTILATING WIGS AND SCALPS.—We have seen specimens of these articles, and most admit that the material workmanship, beauty of finish and elegance of style cannot be equaled. In fact, every thing that enhances a beautiful head of hair is concentrated in these inestimable works of art. Whatever experience could suggest or genius could execute, C.'s Wigs have received the advantage of. They are formed to the head as the natural hair grows, covering no more of the brow than one's own hair dees. They are strong without being heavy, warm without being cap, having no unsecessary weight and no disagreeable pressure. Such are the advantages of Clirchugh's Wigs and Sculps.
